Finding ways to improve the levels of employee engagement within your organization can often be a trying process.

You've probably been spending countless hours looking for the perfect solution, yet you come up empty-handed time and time again.

It can seem impossible at times to fix issues that are getting in the way of performance and productivity, yet giving up is never an option if you're looking to push your business forward.

In many ways, the most effective vehicle today for improving employee engagement is social intranet software.

Social intranet software, like Axero, brings together everything your organization needs to improve internal communications, boost productivity, connect your people, and increase employee engagement.

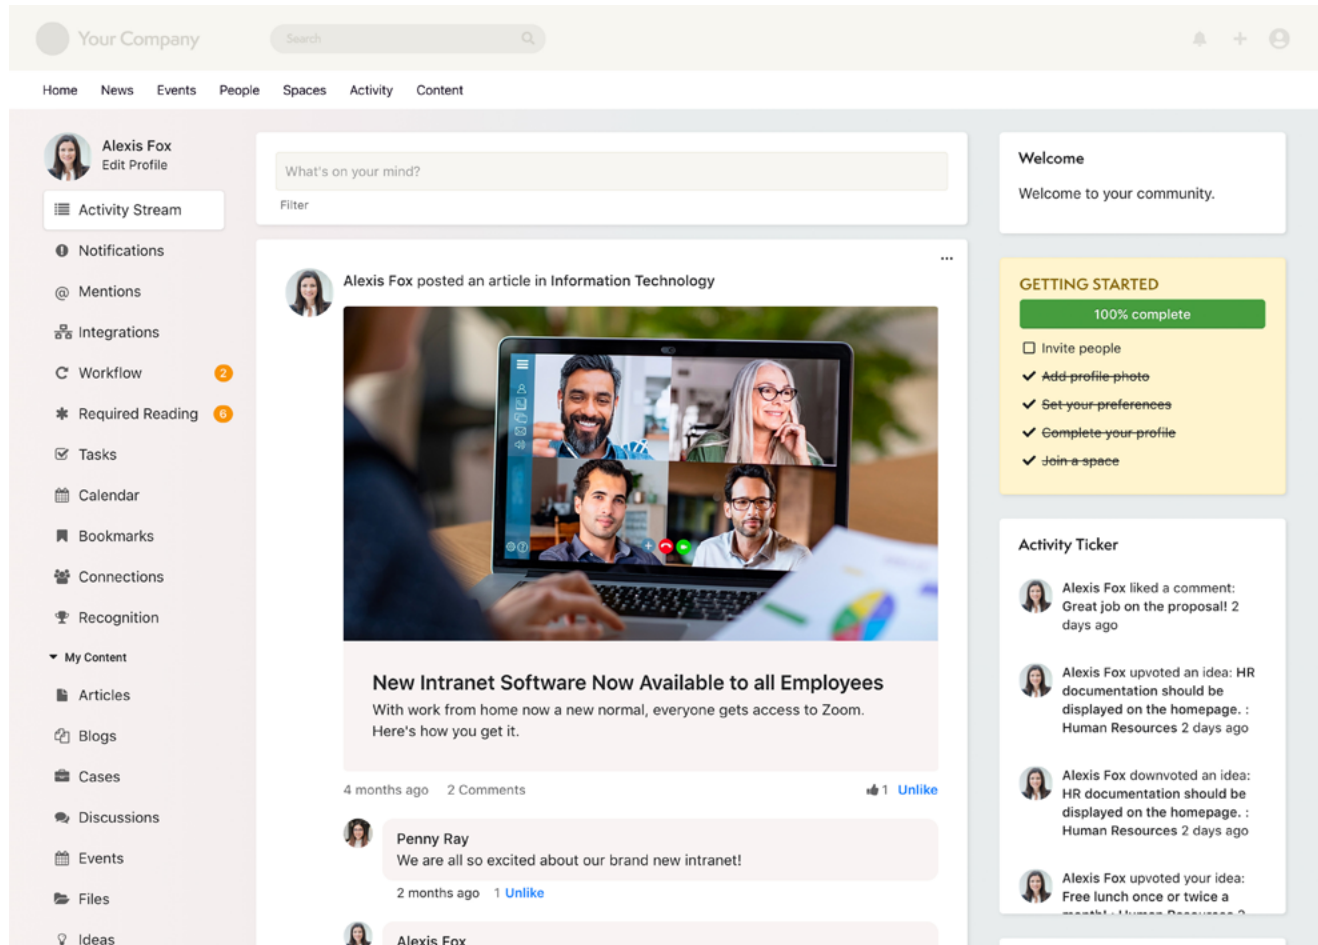

In order to get a better understanding of how Axero increases employee engagement, it's important to take a look at the many features inherent in the software.

Let's take a look...

Axero's employee engagement features.

The background of the slide is a dark blue gradient. It features several abstract, glowing shapes. A prominent yellow and orange curve starts from the bottom left and sweeps upwards towards the right. Another purple and blue curve starts from the top right and sweeps downwards towards the left. These curves create a sense of movement and depth.

Activity Streams keep everyone in-the-know.

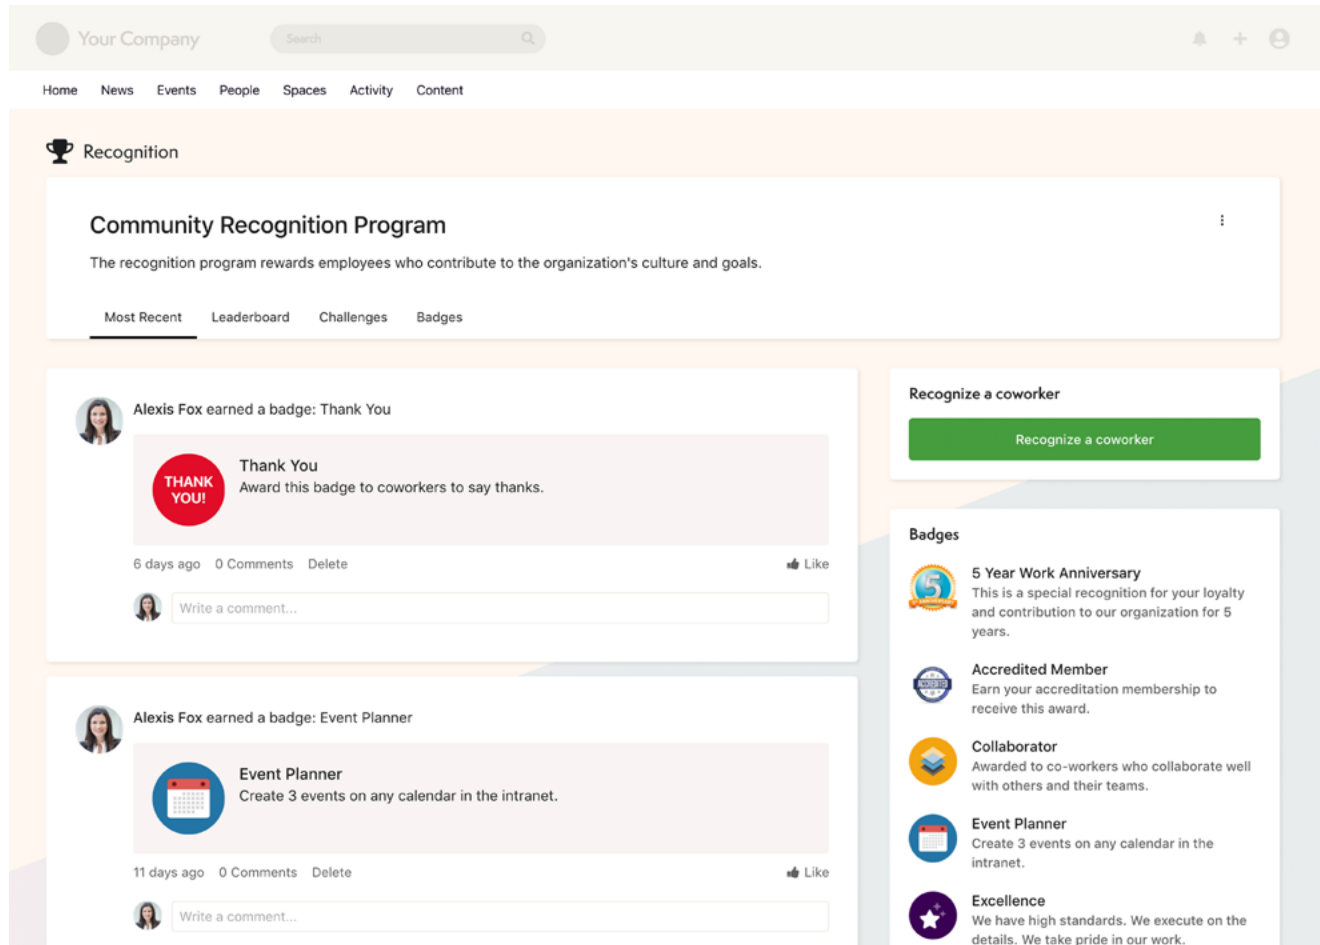

A main reason why employees suffer from low engagement levels is because they don't know what's going on within their company. When an employee loses focus on the happenings of your company, you can expect engagements levels to fall.

When you log into Axero, you're presented with a rundown of all the new things from the people, departments, and groups you're connected to.

This is an "activity stream," and it ensures that your employees are on the same page regarding current projects and tasks. At a quick glance, people can see everything that's going on, and interact with important updates and happenings.

Recognition tools reinforce positive behavior.

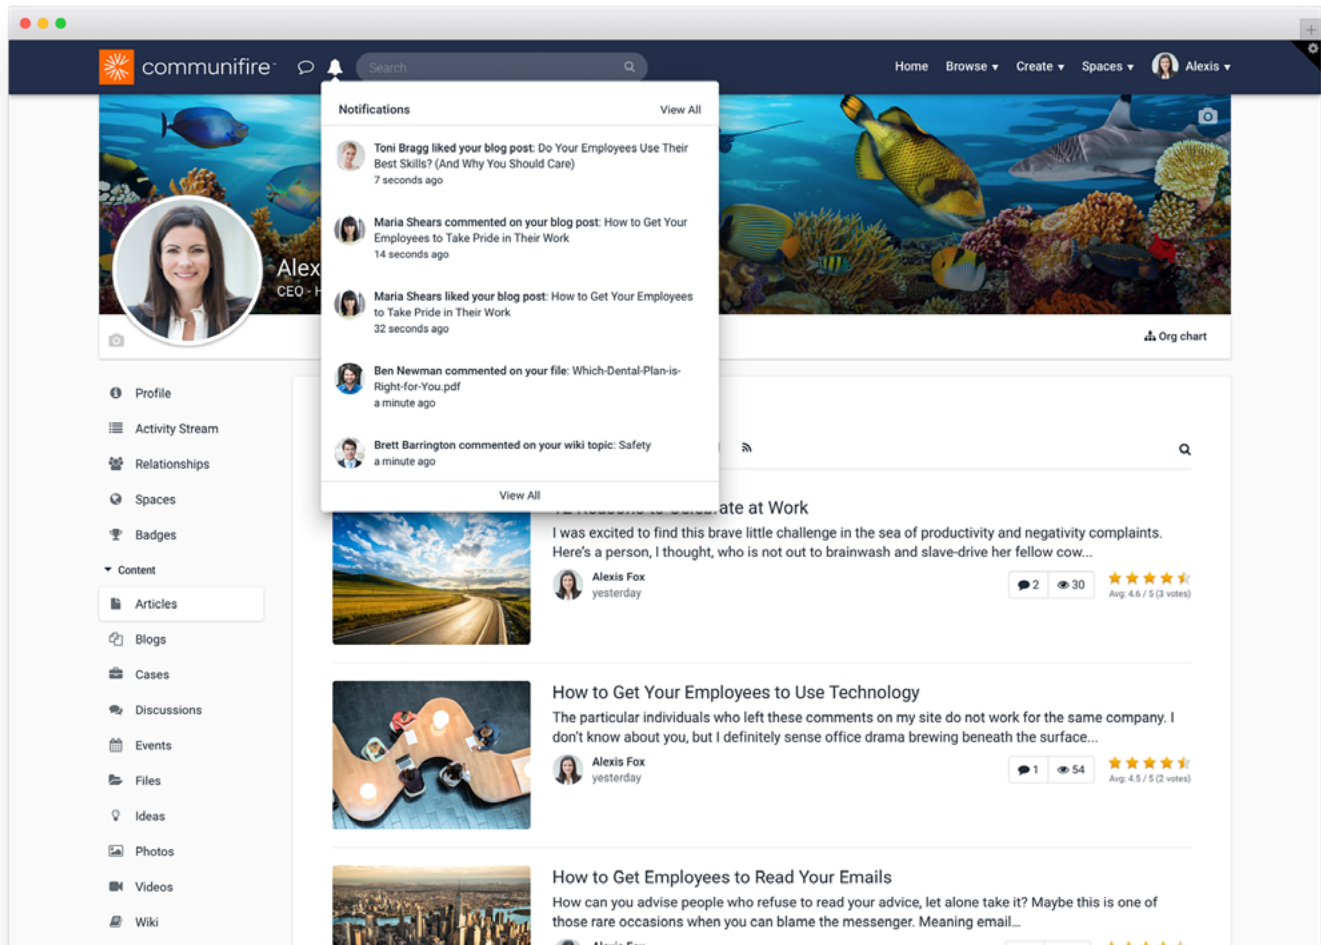

Recognition incentivizes activities in the workplace—even mundane ones—by allowing you and team members to send a badge celebrating a win or showing appreciation for each other.

Recognition awards appear in activity streams for your entire community to see, making Axero a source for engagement and connection.

Send a kudos to employees who went above and beyond, celebrate anniversaries, or create challenges where users perform a series of actions to win a badge. Incite friendly competition while encouraging productive and proactive behaviors.

Notifications tell you what you need to act on.

Activity streams keep you aware of what's happening in your company, but it's also important to have real-time updates. There are times when a project demands your immediate attention, and knowing what needs to be done ASAP is a major help.

Axero offers a notification system that keeps everyone fully-updated on the projects they're working on, in real-time.

Notifications give you quick access to the things that are all about you, and they tell you what you need to act upon next. They allow you to quickly jump into the page or content that requires your attention.

Give your people an unmatched employee experience.

Engage employees on any device. Whether on-the-go or frontline workers, Axero connects employees to the content, people, and projects they need to be productive. A connected workforce is an engaged workforce.

Ideation gives you a place to vote on ideas.

Your employees are astute observers and they are strategically positioned to offer you competitive advantages if you listen to them. They understand your company positioning in the marketplace, and they have untapped expertise.

With Axero, you can source ideas from your staff, customers, and vendors. Then they can vote, giving you true and honest feedback.

With ideation, you empower your employees to cultivate and generate potential products and services for your company. They will be in a position to describe experiences, feelings, and information that management may have overlooked.

Tasks let you keep track of who's doing what.

Multitasking is an important skill of modern professionals. Many employees handle multiple tasks at the same time, to the point where confusion takes over. They may not know in what order to complete their tasks. They may also forget a few.

Axero's task management helps you and your staff keep track of what's due, when it's due, and who is in charge of getting the job done.

Projects can be managed in many ways, broken down into phases, due dates and more. Due to its open nature, everyone can see what everyone else is working on. Because of this, employees will be more motivated to accomplish their tasks.

Document management organizes and puts the files you need at your fingertips.

Your employees need to have access to crucial files and documentation that is necessary for them to do their jobs.

Document management is a major part of the Axero suite. It allows your employees to upload, manage, and organize essential files.

As files and documents get uploaded, they also become collaborative, allowing you and your staff to comment, “like”, and rate them as they see fit.

Your people directory and personal profiles makes everyone accessible and more human.

Axero gives you powerful and easy-to-use tools to increase employee engagement.

In most organizations, the number one reason for employee turnover is the lack of opportunity to make meaningful contributions. It's a problem as old as business itself, often due to communication breakdown and engagement issues.

A social intranet brings the power of social networking to your business, allowing your employees an opportunity to contribute knowledge and ideas in a streamlined, efficient manner.

Social intranet software brings together everything you need to handle day-to-day processes, including shared calendars, a document management system, blogging/wiki platforms and more. Once implemented, you can create private spaces for each team in your organization where employees can share information. As intranet software can also be a huge time-saver, you'll be saving your organization a great deal of money, all the while taking employee engagement to an entirely new level.
